Námsáætlun, haustönn 2020

Kennari:

Íris Rut Agnarsdóttir

Netfang:

ira@bhs.is

Lýsing:

The course is divided into themes: Saving the world, civil rights, current issues, and Englishspeaking cultures around the world. Students will write a research paper on saving the world, read To Kill a Mockingbird by Harper Lee, a short story and other texts on the Civil Rights movement as well as explore various English-speaking cultures around the world. Relating to the themes there will be discussions, students learn to write a research paper independently, to collect data for the paper, to write a bibliography and to use quotations correctly. To break up the themes, students will choose a book to read and review. Students will especially be trained in oral proficiency and presentation of the data they have collected, without the aid of written text present.

Þekking, leikni, hæfni:

At the end of the course students should be able to identify different varieties of English and have knowledge of the political or cultural history of English-speaking cultures. They should be able to write relatively flawless texts in English through process writing and be able to present their thoughts and assignments orally without written text present
